JOIN US AT AACAP’S 62ND ANNUAL MEETING!

On behalf of the entire Program Committee and AACAP Staff, we’re looking forward to seeing all of you at AACAP’s 62nd Annual Meeting, October 26 – 31, at the Grand Hyatt San Antonio and Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center in sunny San Antonio!

We have a wide variety of sessions and some innovative topics too. As always, the large majority of our sessions are accredited for continuing medical education (CME) credit; attendees can receive up to 50 CME credits by attending the entire meeting.

As you’ve come to expect, we will continue to offer:

● Complimentary wireless internet throughout the meeting space at the Grand Hyatt and Convention Center!
● An improved AACAP app that not only allows you to fully navigate the meeting without paper (including the ability to complete all of your session evaluations electronically), but gives you access to other AACAP information (like advocacy updates and a member directory) as well!
● Data Blitz and Ted Talk programs to help attendees get lots of information in a short period of time (see page 14 for more details)!
● PDFs of the Book of Scientific Proceedings, Program Book, and Honors Book available for all attendees!

We are also pleased to welcome your families to San Antonio! Please see pages 52 – 53 for information on general guidelines for kids at the Annual Meeting and other San Antonio information for families. Don’t miss out on some of my favorite activities including strolling along the beautiful San Antonio River Walk, riding around on San Antonio BCycles (a municipal bike sharing system), and learning about San Antonio’s unique history on the Mission Reach trail.

A special ¡gracias y bienvenido! to our colleagues from Asociación Mexicana de Psiquiatría Infantil, A.C. (AMPI) who are sharing the Annual Meeting with us this year. Make sure to see page 8 for highlighted international sessions and events taking place at the Annual Meeting.

With important changes in the field like the DSM-5, excessive use of electronics, new challenges with children of illegal immigrants, and updated research in psychopharmacology, mental health care professionals can’t afford to miss the Annual Meeting.

Visit www.aacap.org/AnnualMeeting/2015 for more information!

Be sure to register by September 15 to take advantage of the early bird rates.

See you in San Antonio!

AACAP’s Program Committee
Estimados colegas, estudiantes y profesionistas interesados en la salud mental infantil,

En nombre de todo el personal, la Asociación Mexicana de Psiquiatría Infantil (AMPI) estamos muy agradecidos y honrados por la invitación para compartir en la 62ª Reunión Anual de AACAP que se realizará en Octubre 26 al 31, en la hermosa e histórica ciudad de San Antonio, Texas.

Como todos sabemos, en cada Reunión Anual de AACAP se cuenta con una amplia variedad de presentaciones y temas innovadores y ésta reunión no será la excepción ya que se le dará un énfasis especial en la perspectiva de la salud social y mental entre nuestros países.

La oportunidad de tener este encuentro con AACAP es muy valiosa para nosotros como Asociación porque ambos países comparten una zona geográfica, social y económica, sobre todo los problemas de la salud mental de niños y adolescentes, siendo éstos nuestra prioridad.

Trabajando ambas Asociaciones juntas podremos encontrar una forma singular para promover la prevención, el cuidado y las propuestas de modificación en este entorno complejo.

Ver la página 8 para sesiones y eventos internacionales destacados que tienen lugar en la Reunión Anual.

Finalmente quiero agradecer a los colegas de todo el mundo, pero especialmente a los de América Latina y los Estados Unidos por la oportunidad única de estar aquí. ¡Los esperamos con los brazos abiertos!

Atentamente,

Dra. Yolanda Del Rio-Carlos

Dear colleagues, students, and professionals interested in children's mental health,

On behalf of all staff at the Asociación Mexicana de Psiquiatría Infantil (AMPI), we’re very grateful and honored by the invitation to share in the 62nd AACAP Annual Meeting to be held from October 26 – 31, in the beautiful and historic city of San Antonio, Texas.

As we all know, at each AACAP Annual Meeting, there is a wide variety of presentations and innovative themes and this is no exception as it will give a special emphasis on the perspective of social and mental health among our countries.

The opportunity to have this meeting with AACAP is very valuable to us as an Association because both of our countries share geographical, social, and economic areas as well as the mental health problems of children and adolescents, who are our priority. By both Associations working together, we can find a unique way to promote prevention, care, and modifications in this complex environment.

See page 8 for meetings and prominent international events taking place at the Annual Meeting.

Finally, I want to thank colleagues from around the world, but especially in Latin America and the United States for a unique opportunity to be here. We are waiting with open arms!

Best regards,

Dr. Yolanda Del Rio-Carlos
It has been my pleasure to serve as AACAP’s President and a privilege to lead the efforts to broaden our reach internationally, ultimately improving mental health care for children around the world. Our ever growing global community is made up of so many unique individuals, from different and varied backgrounds, all coming together to advance our mission. I am fortunate to work with all of you!

I am excited to welcome all international attendees to AACAP’s 62nd Annual Meeting in San Antonio, TX. Our Annual Meeting continues to attract increasing numbers of international colleagues and we have seen a marked growth in the quality of presentations that address global issues in children’s mental health — a topic close to my heart and the theme of my Presidential Initiative, Partnering for the World’s Children.

Through my Initiative, we have a new International Membership category, added an International section to AACAP’s website, and strengthened our relationships with child psychiatry organizations globally. In addition, I am extremely proud of the two new International Scholar Awards — Ülkü Ülgür, MD International Scholar Award & Paramjit T. Joshi, MD International Scholar Awards, aimed to bring qualified international colleagues to our meeting. It is my hope that the sharing of global ideas and inclusion of our international peers will serve AACAP and our field as we work together to navigate our ever-changing specialty.

As you review the Registration Magazine, the Program Committee has once again done an outstanding job putting together a world-class program. This year’s program provides an in-depth look at current issues in clinical practice, cutting edge research, public policy, education, and advocacy, and the events of international interest are highlighted on this page.

Our latest achievements serve as a testament to not only AACAP’s global reach, but the importance and need for services and treatment for children around the world. We are moving in the right direction, building and strengthening our international collaborations and fostering these relationships, while making sure we keep AACAP moving forward and on mission.

I encourage all of you to attend the Annual Meeting and look forward to welcoming you to San Antonio!

SYSTEMS OF CARE SPECIAL PROGRAM

Systems of Care and Substance Use Disorders in Youth: Gaps and Successes in the Real World

Chair: Justine Larson, MD, MPH

Monday, October 26

8:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. (ticket)

Sponsored by the AACAP Community-Based Systems of Care Committee and Substance Abuse and Addiction Committee

This program provides child and adolescent psychiatrists (CAPs) and other mental health clinicians with the knowledge, skills, and appropriate attitudes needed to better serve youth with substance use disorders (SUDs) and co-occurring disorders. CAPs can have a number of different roles working with youth and young adults with SUDs: as a diagnostician, therapist, psychopharmacologist, treatment team member, and advocate. In order to be effective in these various roles, CAPs must have the background and skills to address the needs of youth and be able to work with other clinical and support agency staff. This full-day program gives CAPs the opportunity to become more familiar with system of care principles and evidence-based programs to enhance their capacity to be advocates for the needs of youth with SUDs and their families.

Research Committee Co-Chairs:

- Melissa P. DelBello, MD, MS

Research Institute Co-Chairs:

- Timothy E. Wilens, MD
- Kevin M. Gray, MD

Tuesday, October 27

8:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. (ticket)

Sponsored by the AACAP Substance Abuse and Addiction Committee and Research Committee

The Research Institute is designed to drive the research policy agenda for child and adolescent psychiatry by creating an environment that encourages scientific exploration and collaboration of investigators across disciplines. The primary audience is researchers, although others are invited to attend.

The overarching aim of this Institute is to provide a higher level of understanding of the methodology of studies of substance use disorder (SUD) research in pediatric and young adult populations. This Research Institute aims to provide information not only on the content of recent research in SUD, but more importantly, to focus on the methodology and accompanying issues in carrying out various substance-related projects. Faculty discuss their own studies with an emphasis on “how to do” SUD-related research. Topics include planning a study, recruitment, retention, outcomes using both subjective and objective measures, definitions of SUD improvement (e.g., reduction vs. remission), study execution, ethical/legal issues, certificates of confidentiality, breaches of confidentiality, working with adolescents/young adults and their families, management of difficult situations (subjects who are intoxicated, etc.), and applicability of studies to clinical practice. All presenters have been asked to start with (a) research study(ies) and to refer back to the study(ies) to keep the talk methodologically informative.

Questions about the Research Institute? Contact research@aacap.org.

The Role of Exome Sequencing and Other New Genetic Tests in Child and Adolescent Psychiatry

Arthur L. Beaudet, MD

Arthur L. Beaudet, MD is the Henry and Emma Meyer Distinguished Service Professor in the Department of Molecular and Human Genetics at Baylor College of Medicine. Dr. Beaudet received his MD degree from Yale, did pediatric residency training at Johns Hopkins, and was a research associate at the National Institutes of Health before joining Baylor College of Medicine (BCM) in 1971, where he has remained to the present. Dr. Beaudet has made diverse contributions in the field of mammalian genetics including discovery of uniparental disomy in humans and publishing over 250 original research articles. He has argued for the importance of epigenetics in human disease since 2002 and proposed a mixed epigenetic and genetic and mixed de novo and inherited model for oligogenic inheritance in autism. In 2004, Beaudet and a BCM team of investigators were the first in the US to introduce array comparative genomic hybridization (array CGH) into the clinical lab, and then in 2011, with additional collaborators especially from the Human Genome Sequencing Center, they introduced whole exome sequencing into the clinical laboratory. His current work is focused on investigation of a neuronal carnitine deficiency hypothesis for autism, development of cell-based methods for noninvasive prenatal diagnosis, and the role of copy number variants (CNVs) and point mutations in neurobehavioral disabilities, and especially on the importance of the CHRNA7 gene in intellectual disability, autism, and schizophrenia. Dr. Beaudet is well-known as one of the editors of the Metabolic and Molecular Bases of Inherited Disease textbook for the 6th through 8th editions, and he has served on many editorial boards and national review panels. He was President of the American Society of Human Genetics in 1998 and was elected to the Institute of Medicine in 1995 and to the National Academy of Sciences in 2011. Dr. Beaudet is currently the Henry and Emma Meyer Distinguished Service Professor in the Department of Molecular and Human Genetics at Baylor College of Medicine and Texas Children’s Hospital in Houston.

Anxiety, Cognition, and Habit: A Memory Systems Perspective

Mark G. Packard, PhD

Mark G. Packard, PhD, is a Professor of Psychology and Cornerstone Faculty Fellow in the Department of Psychology and Institute for Neuroscience at Texas A&M University, and is a Fellow of the American Psychological Association and Association for Psychological Science. His basic research in lower animals focuses on the neurobiological bases of memory organization in the mammalian brain, and employs a neural systems level of analysis. His primary theoretical approach is based on a multiple memory systems hypothesis indicating differential roles of the hippocampus and basal ganglia in cognitive and habit memory, respectively. Within this framework, he has conducted extensive research investigating the effects of stress and anxiety on the relative use of multiple memory systems. This work has implicated the amygdala as a critical neuroanatomical component that exerts a modulatory influence of robust emotional arousal on cognitive and habit memory systems. His research investigating the influence of stress and anxiety on memory has broad implications for understanding the development and expression of habit-like symptoms in various psychopathologies (obsessive compulsive disorder, drug addiction, posttraumatic stress disorder, and others).

Anxiety, Cognition, and Habit: A Memory Systems Perspective
Mark G. Packard, PhD

The objective of this Clinical Practicum is to help child and adolescent psychiatrists face an array of difficult problems not faced by prior generations of clinicians. These include: children discharged from inpatient settings on multiple psychotropic medications yet still doing poorly, children who are victims of sexual trafficking, unaccompanied minors entering the US with psychiatric illness, children who require multiple psychiatric admissions in a given year, and children in rural areas with serious disorders who lack access to care. Through case presentations, methods for dealing with these complex situations are discussed. These include: children discharged on seven medications yet still doing poorly, a six year old forced into sexual trafficking, a boy with 14 hospitalizations in one year, and two children with severe psychiatric illness who live in isolated areas. Unique times require unique interventions but attendees learn how the careful application of clinical skill can guide the interventions where the evidence base is lacking.

AACAP’s Research Symposium is designed to bring to the practicing clinician and academician a review and discussion of advanced scientific techniques and how they are relevant to the contemporary clinical practice of child and adolescent psychiatry.
We are all highly motivated by the promotion of child and adolescent mental health. We are all convinced that our specialty is obviously a public health priority and, often, we are frustrated knowing that not everyone shares our position. Why such a discrepancy? Does it come from us (obviously because we are involved we are likely to be biased)? Or does it come from society (child and adolescent mental health would be unfairly neglected)? When reviewing the scientific literature addressing the burden of child and adolescent mental diseases, even if there are technical difficulties the results are clear: mental health is one of the major sources of suffering for children and adolescents. This lecture reviews the steps we must take to improve the lives of our children and families suffering with mental health issues throughout the world.

Bruno Falissard, MD, PhD, President-Elect of the World Psychiatric Association and Chair of the Mental Health Foundation initially was trained in mathematics and fundamental physics before he engaged in Child and Adolescent medical studies in 1991. He earned his PhD in biostatistics and post doctorate in psychometrics and exploratory multimensional methods. Dr. Falissard was Assistant Professor in child and adolescent psychiatry from 1996 to 1997, Associate Professor in Public Health form 1997 to 2002 and full Professor in Public Health from 2002. He is currently the head of the Master in Public Health of South-Paris University (600 students) and the head of the “Center of Epidemiology and Population Health” (500 members). He is co-author of approximately 400 papers and author of 4 books. He has a clinical practice in child and adolescent psychiatry. His personal areas of research focus on the methodology and epistemology of mental health research. Since 2015 he has been the president of IACAPAP (International Association of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry and Allied Professions). Child and Adolescent Psychiatry in the Era of Healthcare Reform

Wednesday, October 28
4:15 p.m. – 6:00 p.m. (open)

Gregory K. Fritz, MD, AACAP President-Elect (2013 – 2015), is Professor, Director of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry, and Vice Chair in the Department of Psychiatry and Human Behavior at the Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University. He is also the Academic Director at the E.P. Bradley Hospital and Associate Chief of Psychiatry at Rhode Island Hospital/Hasbro Children’s Hospital. Following graduation from Tufts Medical School, he did his general psychiatry residency in San Mateo, CA and child psychiatry training and a research fellowship at Stanford. He directed the pediatric consultation-liaison service at Stanford until he moved to Brown in the 1980s, where he has worked ever since.

Dr. Fritz chaired several committees in AACAP and was elected Councilor-at-Large and Secretary prior to becoming President-Elect. He served as President of the American Association of Directors of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry (formerly known as Society of Professors of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry) and of the International Society for the Advancement of Respiratory Psychophysiology. He has also been involved in the work of the Academy of Psychosomatic Medicine and the American Psychiatric Association, where he is a Distinguished Life Fellow.

Dr. Fritz has received grant support from the National Institute of Mental Health and the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute for his research on mind-body interactions in chronic pediatric illness. He has published numerous papers with psychologists and other mental healthcare professionals.

In his inaugural address, “Child and Adolescent Psychiatry in the Era of Healthcare Reform,” Dr. Fritz focuses on the opportunities for improving the mental healthcare of children in this period of rapid change. He sees research as key, lest anecdotes and individual preferences fill the void where empirical evidence should be. “Small r” research projects gain in importance as National Institutes of Health (NIH) and industry support contract. Dr. Fritz sees the reduction in the stigma of mental illness as an important factor behind much of the progress in child psychiatry in the past decade, while residual stigma remains our greatest obstacle. The movement toward integrating mental health and primary medical care, which Dr. Fritz has chosen as his Presidential Initiative, is both a reflection of our progress and a means to greatly expand children’s access to mental healthcare.

In his Presidential Initiative, Dr. Fritz places a high priority on education—training primary care providers in basic psychiatric content as well as educating child psychiatrists to be effective consultants and collaborators in the integrated care setting. He emphasizes the need for empirical evidence of improved outcomes and/or cost savings if integrated care is ever to be widely applied and for advocacy to remove the many administrative and financial barriers that currently exist. He underlines the need for a new level of collaboration with pediatricians and other primary care providers and with psychologists and other mental healthcare professionals.

AACAP CATCHERS IN THE RYE HUMANITARIAN AWARD

James and Maureen Hackett

The AACAP Catchers in the Rye Humanitarian Award was established in 1990 to honor those members of the general public who have made significant contributions to society through support of child and adolescent psychiatry.

AACAP is honored to present the 2015 Catchers in the Rye Humanitarian Award to James and Maureen Hackett. Maureen and James began their philanthropic and humanitarian work as community activists and leaders more than 30 years ago, and have touched the lives of countless children and families afflicted with psychiatric disorders and developmental disabilities.

James Hackett is the retired executive Chairman of the Board and former CEO of Anadarko Petroleum; the former Chairman of the Board of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas; and former President and CEO of Devon Energy Corporation. He serves as Chairman of the Baylor College of Medicine Board and is a Board member of the Texas Medical Center. Maureen Hackett has worked in philanthropy and has been a community activist and a leader and board member in numerous local and national organizations. Together they have raised four children who now, as adults, have joined them at the Hackett Family Foundation, which they established in 1996, to pursue their commitment to improve healthcare and to the prevention and treatment of mental illness.

One of their most recent projects is the Mental Health Channel (mentalhealthchannel.tv). This is an educational tool intended to build awareness, knowledge, and acceptance of mental health and the positive and protective factors that promote resilience.

The Use of Equine-Assisted Psychotherapy in Children and Adolescents: An Experiential Introduction for Child and Adolescent Psychiatrists

Thursday, October 29
9:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.
(ticket, members only)

Chair: Jennifer Saul, MD

Location: Fair Oaks Ranch, TX

When people think of horses, a few places come to mind, but none as much as Texas. Join the EAGALA-certified therapists and Equine Specialists, along with the horses at Fair Oaks Ranch, to familiarize yourself with equine assisted psychotherapy (EAP) and ask the questions you’ve wanted to ask. What is equine assisted psychotherapy? Why are horses, in particular, suited to experiential psychotherapy interventions? What is the current state of evidence to support the use of EAP? What training is available to learn EAP?

Equine Assisted Psychotherapists utilize theory, research, and techniques from experiential therapy and experiential education and clinically integrate dimensions of cognitive behavioral therapy, dialectical behavior therapy, acceptance and commitment therapy, metaphor therapy, psychodynamic therapy, and more. Experiential therapies have existed for 30 years and have been successfully used with special populations for whom traditional contexts of psychotherapy have not been a good fit, such as high risk youth, highly resistant youth, or youth with developmental delays that interfere with their ability to generalize what is learned in a traditional therapeutic setting. EAP, as an experiential therapy, provides child and adolescent psychiatrists with additional tools for working with populations who have been resistant to traditional contexts of psychotherapy.

PRESIDENTIAL INTERVIEW

Paramjit T. Joshi, MD, Interviews Savita Malhotra, MD, PhD

Friday, October 24
11:45 a.m. – 1:15 p.m. (open)

Dr. Savita Malhotra is Dean of the Postgraduate Institute of Medical Education and Research Chandigarh (PGIMER) and Professor of Psychiatry. She heads the Department of Psychiatry and De-addiction and Treatment Centre of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry at the PGIMER. Her qualifications include a Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery from H.P. Medical College Simla; Doctor of Psychiatry and a Doctorate from the Postgraduate Institute of Medical Education and Research Chandigarh. She has training in child psychiatry through a British Council Fellowship at the Institute of Child Health London (1987), WHO Fellowship in Western Psychiatric Institute and Clinic Pittsburgh (1991), and British Council Fellowship at Guy’s Hospital London (1991 – 1992).

Dr. Malhotra has been on the faculty of the Department of Psychiatry at the Postgraduate Institute of Medical Education and Research, Chandigarh since 1979 and has over 35 years of experience in working and heading the child psychiatry services and training. She has been actively involved with several national and international societies and organizations; been Past President and now Life President of the Indian Association for Child and Adolescent Mental Health. She is currently President of the Asian Society for Child and Adolescent Psychiatry and Allied Professions.

Dr. Malhotra made pioneering efforts towards organization and establishment of the discipline of child psychiatry in India through resource mobilization and advocacy at the national level. She has served on many national committees and bodies involved in planning and policy making in the country. She initiated and worked relentlessly towards starting super specialty training in child and adolescent psychiatry in the country and succeeded in her efforts recently when a full time three year Doctor of Medicine course in child and adolescent psychiatry was started in India, which will provide locally trained child psychiatrists in the country.

Dr. Malhotra is a recognized leader and resource person in mental health and child mental health at the national and international level. Her main areas of research include epidemiology of childhood psychiatric disorders, neurobiology of childhood onset schizophrenia and pervasive developmental disorders, temperament and psychopathology in children. Her most recent research involves development and implementation of a knowledge-based expert system for diagnosis and management of child psychiatric disorders in the form of a model telepsychiatry application to deliver mental health care in remote areas through non specialists. The system has been extensively tested for its validity, reliability, and accuracy, and can be used as a model of service delivery in the resource deficient countries, and is slated to be taken up at the national level in India. This project was awarded the highest order of merit and excellence as an e-governance project in the country in a national level competition in 2014.
Growing mobility of families among different countries and easy exposure to events and situations in other continents are changing the views of many of us. What before only experienced travelers or literature readers were familiar with, is becoming now fully shared, with the easiness generated by social media and technological progress. The developed world is rapidly accessing this global neighborhood view and their child and adolescent psychiatrists see another picture that had never been fully accepted: child psychiatry either does not exist in most parts of the world or only treats 20% of those children and adolescents affected by psychiatric conditions. In this context of severe global deprivation, the talk reviews basic data and offers examples of initiatives that foster collaboration, training, program modeling, and policy making that will renew our vision of ourselves; our conversion into professionals with an international perspective.

Joaquin Fuentes, a native of the Basque Country in Spain, completed his psychiatry residency at the Albany Medical Center Hospital, Albany, NY and his child psychiatry fellowship at the Western Psychiatric Institute and Clinic, University of Pittsburgh, PA. He returned in 1980, to his hometown and has devoted his life to the interface of clinical practice, program development, education, research, and multi-departmental community actions in favor of children and adolescents. He is now the Chief of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry at Policlínica Gipuzkoa, and Research Consultant at the Gautena Autism Program, in Donostia / San Sebastián, Spain.

His main focus of interest has been on autism spectrum disorder (ASD) and other developmental disorders, and he has been very active in the international arena, delivering invited courses and conferences in more than 35 countries. He has served as Vice President of the International Association for Child and Adolescent Psychiatry and Allied Professions (IACAPAP), where he is now a Counselor, and has been a member of diverse AACAP initiatives, such as its Program Committee and the current Presidential Initiative. A key advisor for Autism Europe and a consultant to ASD national and European Union projects, he received in 2014 the IACAPAP Medal as well as the maximal popular recognition his hometown gives every year to one of its living citizens, the “Golden Drum” Award.

The Lawrence A. Stone, MD Plenary is named in honor of AACAP Past President and Life Fellow, Lawrence A. Stone, MD. It recognizes his leadership, vision, and passion to the mission of AACAP. Mrs. Marnette Stone endowed this plenary in loving tribute to her husband.
As a lover of good food, I have been delighted by the recent emergence of fabulous new dining options in San Antonio. What is particularly appealing is that these have been part of a resurgence of areas close to downtown. San Antonio has always been known for its Mexican food (for example Rosarios, Mi Tierra, and El Mirador are classic downtown eateries), but we now have world class dining with great ambiance that can fit almost anyone’s tastes. For example, the old Pearl Brewery has been converted into a number of fabulous bars and restaurants such as Sandbar for seafood, The Granery for barbecue, Il Sogno for Italian, and more eclectic food at Cured and Arcade Midtown. In addition, the area known as “Southtown” has award-winning restaurants such as Bliss, Feast, Stella’s, and La Frite, to name a few. All of these are popular with locals so make reservations ahead of time!

Rene Luis Olvera, MD, MPH  Co-Chair, Local Arrangements Committee

October is a perfect time to visit San Antonio. Fall is in full swing and it is a great time to be outside. The River Walk is a great place for a stroll, but be sure to explore the Museum Reach section which provides access to the San Antonio Museum of Art and the historic Pearl Brewery complex. It is important to get up on the surface streets to enjoy the many new small restaurants and bars. The Institute of Texan Cultures is a fascinating look at the wide range of people from all over the world whose ancestors settled in Texas—a must see for history buffs. The River Walk’s new Mission Reach trail is a great place to explore the early Spanish history of San Antonio; it has beautiful hiking and biking trails. Another great walking tour is the King William Historic District, settled by German immigrants in the late nineteenth century. Southtown, also a nearby walk from the River Walk, is host to an eclectic array of restaurants, artists, and clubs.

Steven R. Pliszka, MD  Co-Chair, Local Arrangements Committee

San Antonio has been my home for 23 years. The city is affordable, fun, and exciting. We have the best Tex-Mex food! While the River Walk is fun, other attractions in San Antonio include the San Antonio Missions, the Tobin Center for the Performing Arts, and Six Flags Fiesta Texas. The Texas Hill Country is nearby and beautiful. I especially like going to Fredericksburg to shop in the one-of-a-kind stores and to Stonewall, just next to Fredericksburg, for the many wineries. San Antonio is home to many first-rate universities, including University of Texas at San Antonio and Trinity University.

Susan Kay Wynne, MD

San Antonio is a wonderful place to visit. I love going down to the River Walk for dinner or to have a drink. Some of my favorite places to eat are Boudro’s Texas Bistro, Acenar (modern Tex-Mex), Bohanan’s (steak and seafood), and Paesano’s (Italian). If you want to just have a drink or snack then the Esquire Tavern, Mad Dog’s, and Durty Nelly’s Irish Pub are a lot of fun. Great places to visit are the Alamo and the other missions on the Mission Reach trail, the San Antonio Zoo, the Botanical Gardens, and La Villita Historic Arts Village. Lastly, if you love to golf then bring your clubs and play on one of the many wonderful year-round courses we have.

INSTITUTES

Barbara J. Coffey, MD, MS
Institutes Subcommittee Chair

Institutes are among the most popular Annual Meeting programs because they give a comprehensive and authoritative overview of a topic area in a full-day program. They are a great way to learn the latest in research and clinical practice in a specific area of child and adolescent psychiatry. Be sure to purchase your Institute tickets when you register as they often sell out!

Tuesday, October 27
8:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.

Institute 1: Advanced Child and Adolescent Psychopharmacology With Relevance to Primary Care Consultation (ticket)
Chair: Gabrielle A. Carlson, MD
Discussant: Robert J. Hilt, MD
Presenters: Harold E. Carlson, MD, Barbara J. Coffey, MD, MS, Laurence L. Greenhill, MD, Jeremy M. Veenstra-VanderWeele, MD, John T. Walkup, MD

The interaction between child and adolescent psychiatrists and primary care clinicians is becoming increasingly important, especially with the advent of the medical home. This Institute provides a state-of-the-art review of current psychotropic medications and treatment strategies, providing an update on what is new in evidence-based psychopharmacologic treatments of common child and adolescent psychiatric disorders—but it does not stop there! At the end of each presentation, the discussant brings a particular focus on the clinical pearls of the presentation that are useful to share in consultation with primary care clinicians who have different expertise from child and adolescent psychiatrists. There is an emphasis on what is relevant to primary care and what is not, and how one might decide which conditions to help the primary care physician treat and those that should be referred to the child and adolescent psychiatrist.

Tuesday, October 27
8:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.

Institute 2: Research Institute: What’s Up in Child Addiction Research: A Focus on Methodology (ticket)
See page 10.

Wednesday, October 28
7:30 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.

Institute 3: The Assessment and Treatment of Preschool Children: Understanding the Essentials (ticket)
Chairs: Anílla Del Fabbro, MD and Sheila M. Marcus, MD
Discussant: Neil W. Boris, MD
Presenters: Audrey Blakeley-Smith, PhD, Irene Chatooor, MD, Karen A. Frankel, PhD, Joyce N. Harrison, MD, Joan L. Luby, MD, Jean M. Thomas, MD

Only ten percent of child and adolescent psychiatry training programs in the United States have clinics specifically dedicated to the evaluation of preschoolers, leaving many child and adolescent psychiatrists uncomfortable and unknowledgeable when assessing and treating young children. This Institute brings together national experts in the field of infant and preschool mental health who provide clinicians the tools necessary to navigate through the difficulties of early identification of common psychiatric disorders and recognizable symptoms in very young children, including trauma, anxiety, depression, feeding disorders, disruptive behavioral disorders, and autism spectrum disorders. Options for treatment are explored. Participants develop an understanding of both the evidence for and limitations of pharmacotherapy and its limitations in treatment of preschoolers, and explore other evidence-based modalities, e.g., evidence-based psychosocial, psychotherapeutic, and behavioral interventions.

Wednesday, October 28
7:30 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.

Institute 4: The Developmental Neuropsychiatry of Intellectual Developmental Disability: Advances in Classification, Diagnosis, and Treatment (ticket)
Chair: James C. Harris, MD
Presenters: Dejan B. Budimirovic, MD, Elizabeth Dykens, PhD, Robert Findling, MD, Louis Hagopian, PhD, Kerim Munir, MD, Ludwik Szymanski, MD

This Institute details the new DSM-5 definition of Intellectual Disability/Intellectual Developmental Disorder (ID/IDD), emphasizing the importance of psychiatry in the assessment, diagnosis, and treatment of children and adolescents with ID/IDD who have co-occurring psychiatric disorders, and discussing recent advances in treatment targeted to neurobiological mechanisms, behavioral therapies (including severe behaviors), family-focused therapies to alleviate distress, and psychopharmacological interventions. Attendees gain understanding of the essential role played by child and adolescent psychiatrists in light of the DSM-5 now identifying gullibility and lack of risk awareness as characteristic features in determining the severity of ID/IDD and requiring a face-to-face clinical psychiatric assessment. Legal, forensic, and ethical issues are also part of the discussion. Child and adolescent psychiatrists receive limited training in this area and benefit from the knowledge of experts in the field.

Thursday, October 29
8:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.

Institute 5: The Child Psychiatrist’s Guide to Pharmacological and Behavioral Interventions for Sleep Disorders in Children, Adolescents, and Young Adults (ticket)
Chairs: Anna Ivanenko, MD, PhD and Jess P. Shatkin, MD
Presenters: Argelinda Baroni, MD, Kyle P. Johnson, MD, Judith Owens, MD, MPH

Major strides have been made in recognizing the impact of sleep loss on children's neurocognitive functions and academic achievements. This Institute provides the practicing mental health professional comprehensive, pragmatic, advanced knowledge of pharmacological and behavioral treatments for sleep disorders in children, adolescents, and young adults. Internationally recognized pediatric sleep experts present the most up-to-date, evidence-based treatments for sleep disorders with an emphasis on clinical characteristics and treatment options, wellness, and prevention. Topics covered include narcolepsy, idiopathic hypersomnia, restless legs syndrome, periodic limb movement disorder, sleepwalking, sleep terrors, nocturnal enuresis, REM-behavior sleep disorder, and nightmares; as well as how commonly used psychotropic medications affect sleep, behavioral interventions and practical guidelines for conducting cognitive behavioral therapy, exploration of environmental factors that impact sleep, and factors that determine when referral to a sleep study or a specialty sleep clinic is indicated.
This year’s Lifelong Learning Institute highlights Module 12, which provides a review of the latest relevant literature available on a broad range of issues and disorders affecting children and their families. Topics covered include literature on ADHD, anxiety, mood disorders, autism, bullying, health care, technology, language disorders, development, and updates in psychopharmacology. This Institute is designed for all child and adolescent psychiatrists who are working on Maintenance of Certification, as well as anyone who wishes to keep current with important issues in the field.

Inpatient services are important clinical resources in the continuum of psychiatric care. While the expected length of stay has markedly diminished over the past several decades, the number of psychiatric admissions for children has climbed considerably. This Institute examines issues that complicate providing pediatric inpatient psychiatric care, presents several model programs that address challenges to pediatric mental health care, and makes recommendations to further improve the quality and effectiveness of inpatient treatment. Attendees learn to articulate appropriate goals for acute inpatient admission and explore ways to battle barriers to good care. The mandates and challenges of private and public payors are discussed, focusing on strategies for creating effective collaborative partnerships and identifying ways child and adolescent psychiatrists can successfully work with payors for good inpatient results.

Clinicians are frequently asked to evaluate children with social interaction and communication problems, odd behaviors, or emotional and behavioral difficulties. Although they may be able to recognize diagnostic symptoms of autism, many are uncertain about how to screen out comorbid psychiatric or medical disorders. In this Institute, experts in the field of autism spectrum disorder (ASD) provide a practical synthesis of the most recent research on the assessment and management of ASD and associated psychopathology. Attendees receive updates on diagnostic nomenclature, methods of identifying comorbid medical and psychiatric disorders, and psychological and psychopharmacology research; and a review of educational, psychotherapeutic, behavioral, and psychopharmacological interventions. In addition to addressing the management of behavioral challenges through ambulatory psychiatric services, the Institute includes a presentation addressing inpatient treatment for serious behavioral disturbances requiring out-of-home placement.

Recent, large clinical trials in all categories of psychotropic medication provide a growing evidence base for the safe and/or effective use of psychotropic medications in the treatment of children and adolescents with mental illnesses. This Institute provides practical information to primary care clinicians on the use of psychotropic medications, introducing them to the basics that enable them to responsibly prescribe these medications for common pediatric mental health disorders, including ADHD, anxiety disorders, depressive disorders, bipolar disorder, psychotic disorders, and aggression in autism spectrum disorder. Awareness of recent research and application of practical clinical information pertaining to pediatric psychopharmacology are combined to help primary care physicians identify key psychiatric disorders as they present in the office, as well as increase their comfort level in treating common childhood psychiatric disorders with pharmacotherapy.
Please check the onsite Program Book for final days, times, and locations. Committee meetings are open to all AACAP members unless otherwise noted.

When you donate, change happens

As a professional medical society, your American Academy of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry (AACAP) provides significant services to our members and the public. AACAP depends on personal philanthropy to expand projects we know are effective and start new ones with potential for even greater change for children.

Together, we do this through:

- Research Grants
  to improve treatment
- Workforce Development
  to improve access
- Travel Awards
  to improve quality of care

When you donate, change happens for children with mental illness.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE GREAT WAYS YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE:

- Visit www.aacap.org/donate to make your impact today!
- When you donate $1,000 or more, not only are we grateful, but you are invited to join us with a guest at our President’s Reception at AACAP’s 62nd Annual Meeting in San Antonio.
- Donate $450 or more to the Life Members Fund to help sponsor a medical student or resident’s attendance at our Annual Meeting, and be recognized for your generosity with an exclusive 2015 Life Members Owl Pin.
- Sign up online as a monthly recurring donor and become a Hope Maker, whose support will be invaluable in allowing us to sustain our impact throughout the year.
- Make the gift of a lifetime and join the 1953 Society by including AACAP in your will. It is a gift that strengthens AACAP’s future without lessening your quality of life today. Contact development@aacap.org to learn more about becoming a member of the 1953 Society!

Most important, THANK YOU for being an incredible supporter of AACAP. Remember, when you donate, change really does happen.

Retirement. It is a life phase most child and adolescent psychiatrists face at some point and it can be challenging. There is no “right” way to handle retirement. Individual situations and circumstances vary widely, but to make the process less daunting, it helps to understand the psychological challenges faced when transitioning from a full-time professional identity to retired status. Several child and adolescent psychiatrists share their stories and reflect on their own transition to retirement, discussing how they solved the psychological challenges they encountered. Become acquainted with the many different approaches to retirement and learn how better to assess your personal situation and retirement needs.

Keep Changing the Face of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry
Since 2010, the Life Members Fund has made an investment in 75 residents and 65 medical students through its two grant awards, Education Outreach for Child and Adolescent Psychiatry Residents and Mentorship Grants for Medical Students. 140 lives you impacted, who are and will become the next generation of child and adolescent psychiatrists.

For 2015, the Life Members Committee approved 40 new investments—19 medical students and 21 residents—who will attend the San Antonio meeting because of you!

The achievement to date is remarkable. But we must continue to work together to keep this number growing. We’re at a time of great healthcare change and we must continue to help solve the problems of the future while remembering lessons of the past.

AACAP ETHICS REQUIREMENT

Programs marked with ethics indicate sessions that fulfill AACAP’s ethics requirement. AACAP members are required to do one hour of ethics study every two years. Qualifying study can include the following: reading the AACAP Code of Ethics, AACAP Conflict of Interest policies, or information on the AACAP Information Center, AACAP News, or JAACAP ethics articles, or attending the Annual Meeting or Annual Review Course ethics presentations (at the meeting, audio recordings, or website). This is not a CME requirement.

To prove that they have done the required time, members must simply answer the ethics question on the membership dues renewal notice. The ethics activity must be related to children and adolescents and it cannot be risk management. This requirement reflects the importance of ethics to the child and adolescent psychiatry practice. For more information, visit www.aacap.org/ethics.

Media Theatre 7: Teaching Through a New Lens: Dead Poet’s Society as a Model for Creative Innovation in Education

Core principles of Adult Learning Theory are that adults bring with them life experiences and that they are more oriented towards practical, tangible goals. This proven effective model of learning involves hands-on educational activities that challenge and stimulate in multiple ways, with an emphasis on teamwork and little to no traditional lecture, yet, the vast majority of education in the field of child and adolescent psychiatry continues to be in traditional lecture format. The film Dead Poet’s Society demonstrates how creative and non-traditional teaching methods can bring about extraordinary results. Discussion looks at the core principles of Adult Learning Theory and then utilizes them to generate creative, practical teaching strategies that can become educational initiatives in our institutions and practice settings.

Friday, October 30
8:30 a.m. – 11:30 a.m (ticket)
Workshop 26: Fortifying Patients, Students, and Trainees: Highlighting Positive Psychology and Resilience in Clinical and Educational Settings

There is growing evidence that personal characteristics such as self-control, grit, optimism, and resilience play a critical role in promoting mental health and mitigating psychiatric morbidity. Child and adolescent psychiatrists can contribute to prevention of mental disorders through interventions that enhance the capacity of young people to weather stress and maintain wellness. Participants are introduced to concepts of positive psychology and resilience and their relevance to clinical care; identify teaching strategies to actively engage learners in various educational settings, e.g., community, high school, undergraduate education, and graduate medical education; and develop teaching plans that employ components of positive psychology.

11:30 a.m. – 2:00 p.m. (ticket)
Training and Education Lunch

The Training and Education Lunch is open to child and adolescent psychiatry residency program directors, medical school clerkship directors, and other faculty who are passionate about education. Tickets for AACAP Members are $55 ($75 for non-member) by September 15 or $65 ($85 for non-member) after September 15.

During the luncheon attendees learn about important updates and innovations in child and adolescent psychiatry training for medical students, fellows, and the community. Our plenary speaker this year, Florence (Flossy) Eddins-Folensbee, M.D., Vice Dean for Undergraduate Medical Education and Senior Associate Dean for Student Affairs at the University of Texas Health Science Center San Antonio, speaks about wellness in medical students and physicians.

AACAP is again offering a FREE lunch ticket to every child and adolescent psychiatry residency program director that enrolls all of his or her fellows as AACAP members by September 15. Free tickets are not transferable to other faculty.

1:30 p.m. – 4:30 p.m. (open)

Saturday, October 31
2:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m. (open)
Clinical Case Conference 14: Ethics and Child and Adolescent Psychiatry Training: The “Hidden Curriculum”

The covert or “hidden” ethics curriculum is rarely addressed in child and adolescent psychiatry (CAP) training programs. This CCC focuses directly on the negative messages transmitted in the hidden curriculum, which promote acceptable, in contrast to ethical, professional behavior. Participants, both residents and faculty, openly discuss a variety of ethical considerations that underlie desirable resident and faculty conduct and their application during the course of training. In the process, they become aware of factors that contribute to an atmosphere that promotes collegiality, and learn about ethics and educational resources that endorse and promote acceptable, in contrast to ethical, professional behavior. Participants, both residents and faculty, openly discuss a variety of ethical considerations that underlie desirable resident and faculty conduct and their application during the course of training.

Also sponsored by the AACAP Ethics Committee and Committee on Medical Students and Residents

AACAP’S OPERATING PRINCIPLES FOR EXTRAMURAL SUPPORT OF AACAP MEETINGS AND RELATED ACTIVITIES

Bennett L. Leventhal, MD

AACAP has long been a leader in managing disclosures and potential conflicts of interest that can and do interfere with objective conduct of science and clinical practice. It has long been important to AACAP and the Program Committee, as we develop and present our meetings, to keep content and presentations independent from sources of funding or other support. For more than ten years, AACAP has managed its meetings under the Operating Principles for Extramural Support. The Operating Principles represent a dynamic process designed to serve our patients and profession, and maintain our scientific and clinical integrity. As a result, your awareness and participation are essential to their success. We hope you will take pride in our Principles and your participation in the process. For your reference, the full document is available online at http://www.aacap.org/AACAP/CME_and_Meetings/Annual_Meeting/62nd_Annual_Meeting/OperPrin_15.aspx

How You Can Help?

- If you know about an event held by a pharmaceutical company during the week of the Annual Meeting that is not listed in the Program Book, please contact Jill Brafford, Director of Meetings and CME, at 202.966.7719 or jbrafford@aacap.org.
- Let AACAP know if the following disclosure policies are not being adhered to:
  - All individuals presenting at AACAP meetings (including presenters, officers, discussants, etc.) must disclose any conflicts of interest. This obligation is for all individuals who make public comment at any AACAP meeting.
  - When an off-label, investigational, or experimental use of a medication or other product is the subject of a presentation or discussion, disclosure of this status should be clear to the audience, both verbally and in writing.
- Contact the session Monitor and note these on your evaluation forms.

While the Operating Principles is an extensive document that covers many details related to the Annual Meeting, some of the most critical points are:

- Commercial enterprises (including pharmaceutical companies) and other entities related to the AACAP Annual Meeting, agree to not have independent presentations during the week of the Annual Meeting at the host hotel or elsewhere in the meeting city.
- No corporate logos may be displayed outside the exhibit hall.
- No press conferences or briefings may be held prior to presentations at AACAP meetings nor can sponsors represent AACAP meeting content without specific written permission from AACAP.

DISCOVER SAN ANTONIO!

Explore the River Walk
The River Walk, or Paseo del Rio, is the largest urban ecosystem in the nation and certainly the most vibrant. Ride a river cruiser, rent a bicycle, paddle a kayak, or take your time seeing the sights on foot. With 15 miles of sidewalks and paths, the River Walk provides access to museums, historic and art districts, 300-year-old Spanish missions, hotels, shops, restaurants, and a new adventure around every turn.

Family Fun
San Antonio is a family city. Wherever you go, you will find something for everyone, from the thrill-seeking teenager to the curious toddler. We have five major theme parks to keep your family entertained. And to make us even more family-friendly, we have the San Antonio Vacation Experience (SAVE), a discount program offering specials deals for area attractions.

History
San Antonio’s history is center stage with the Alamo and the likes of Davy Crockett and Jim Bowie, but it does not stop there. On the Mission Reach section of the expanded River Walk, the Alamo’s four sister Spanish colonial missions stand, including Mission Concepción, the oldest un-restored stone church in the country.

Shop
Everything is extraordinary in San Antonio and the shopping scene is no exception. We have absolutely everything from high-end shopping to sprawling outlet malls. And if you are looking for something truly unique, try the many handcrafted items on display in El Mercado, also known as Market Square, the largest Mexican market north of the Rio Grande.

Savor the Eats
San Antonio is home to one of the most exciting culinary scenes in the country. Featuring nationally known restaurants, the Culinary Institute of America, and chefs with so much flair, there is no telling what they will think of next. Our Tex-Mex alone is worth the trip! Unless you have tried our local take on authentic dishes, you have never experienced enchiladas and fajitas quite like this.

Nightlife
From Latin flair to smooth jazz to modern country to traditional mariachi, San Antonio’s live music scene is as unique and diverse as the city’s storied past. Enjoy everything from a little late night dancing to being serenaded at a River Walk restaurant.

For more information on things to do in San Antonio, visit: www.visitsanantonio.com/2015AACAP.

No RSVP is needed—just show up! Please note that children cannot be left unsupervised without a parent or guardian. We are looking forward to seeing you and your kids there!
