CASII helps you to:

- Assess program effectiveness at a systems level and advocate for needed services.
- Support active participation by child and family.
- Speak a common language across a diverse array of providers.
- Measure treatment and intervention outcomes.
- Create comprehensive, strength-based, individualized, and coordinated service/treatment plans that best match family and child needs.

Online Training is Convenient and Flexible

CASII Training is Easy to Use and Practical
AACP’s five self-paced online CASII training modules streamline learning and include features like sidebar menus, audio training with transcripts, glossary, downloadable electronic resources, and “practice as you learn” vignettes and case studies. The modules bookmark where you left off, so you can take them in short sessions, whenever you have time.

Enhance Your Practice, Measure and Improve Outcomes
Once trained, you’ll use CASII to methodically:
- Determine appropriate level of service intensity that best addresses identified needs.
- Review and consider a wide variety of clinical and non-clinical service options available.
- Communicate recommendations and monitor progress. Apply the Systems of Care philosophy and approach.
- Assess current status and goals.
