Course Benefits

Institute Goals and Overview
AACAP’s Douglas B. Hanson, MD, Child-Adolescent Behavioral Neurosciences Institute (CABNI) is dedicated to improving the personal practice of child and adolescent psychiatry and serves as an on-site center of child and adolescent psychiatry to provide an interdisciplinary clinical case study for all participants. A multidisciplinary team, including researchers, clinicians, and educators, contributes to the ongoing case study, which focuses on the latest treatment options and guidelines in the field of diagnostic and treatment.

Learning Objectives
At the conclusion of the continuing medical education activity, the participant should be able to:
1. Describe the latest advances in the treatment of psychiatric disorders in children and adolescents.
2. Describe the latest advances in the treatment of psychiatric disorders in children and adolescents.
3. Describe the latest advances in the treatment of psychiatric disorders in children and adolescents.
4. Describe the latest advances in the treatment of psychiatric disorders in children and adolescents.

Scholarships
A limited number of scholar students at the Hanson CME Center are available for medical students and personnel residents. Contact entreeeducation@aacap.org for details.

Conference Enrichment Package
Save Money! Purchase Your Session Recordings in Advance!
All attending participants can save money by purchasing their session recordings in advance. You will be able to access your session recordings at any time after the conference for session recordings. The recordings are distributed approximately 90 days after the conference, and the course notebook is also available for purchase after the conference.

Continuing Medical Education Credits
The American Academy of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry designates this live activity for a maximum of 18.5 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. The American Academy of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to sponsor continuing medical education for physicians.

CME credits are not available to those who purchase the course notebook or audio recordings.

Rebuttal of Policy

Conflict of Payment/Policy

All conferees must receive full disclosure of all financial and non-financial relationships of all speakers, speakers’ bureau, grant, research, expert testimony, and editorial relationships. Any disclosure that may have a direct or indirect commercial product to be discussed during their presentations, including any commercial contributions to the activity. When conflicts are discussed, these will also be disclosed. These disclosures are also posted on AACAP’s website at www.aacap.org/cme/cme2017/2017.

Disclosure Statement

Before the program, all faculty members will disclose the existence and nature of any significant relationships with manufacturers of commercial products and/or other relationships (e.g., consultancies, expert testimony, research grants or support) that may have influenced the development of the content of any of the continuing education activities. This disclosure information will be made available to all program participants. Acceptance of a program is possible only if all conflicts of relationships have been identified and the program participants have been informed of the extent of the potential conflict and have the option of not attending the program.
